Afternoon Tea

Anna Maria, the Seventh Duchess of Bedford, is credited with the invention of afternoon tea in 1840. She is said to have experienced what she called a 'sinking feeling' in the middle of the afternoon due to the long gap between light luncheon and her evening meal.

To relieve her hunger pangs she asked her footman to bring her a pot of tea and a little light refreshment and soon she enjoyed this ritual so much she began to invite her friends over for tea and gossip about the latest scandal.

The ritual caught on and afternoon tea became all the rage among the upper crust.
